REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS

IN December of this year (1906) the Congregational Education Society will have reached its ninetieth milestone. It is therefore the oldest of our national home missionary societies, and its long record has been one of usefulness and honor.

The men it has aided into the Christian ministry and the institutions it has fostered have played no insignificant part in our eventful national history.

Two new institutions have been taken upon the Society's list — the Schauffler Training School, Cleveland, Ohio, and Phillips Academy, New Rockford, North Dakota.

The Schauffler Training School is devoted especially to preparing young women from the Slavic race to do missionary work among the Poles, Bohemians, and Slovaks of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, and other states. Since its organization, twenty-one years ago, ninety young women have been enrolled and fifty have been graduated. There are at present sixteen taking the course. These young women are often the only gospel workers, preachers, and teachers in large districts occupied by these nationalities.

This school also prepares young women to be pastors' assistants, and the increasing call for such helpers shows that there is a new field opening for workers of this kind, and that the school is to meet a new need in the future.

Phillips Academy, North Dakota, starts out with promise, has a fine campus and building, and has also the strong backing of the State Association of Congregational churches in North Dakota and Fargo College.

A new academy for the whites in Thorsby, Alabama, applied for aid this spring, and, in view of the urgent need in that state of schools like our academies, the Directors gave careful consideration to this new call, and Thorsby Institute has been placed on the list of aided schools.

At the time of the last Annual Report, foreclosure proceedings of Weiser Academy, Idaho, were in process, which have since resulted in the passing of the title of the academy to the Society. Local reasons necessitated this step on the part of the trustees of the academy.

Because of the changes in the character of the population, Hull Academy, Iowa, was obliged to close its doors, and the title of the property was transferred to the Education Society. The property has been given toward the endowment of Kingfisher College.

Twenty academies have been upon the Society's list for the year, and a majority of them have made notable gains in students, equipment, buildings, and endowment; as, for example, Windom Institute, North Wisconsin Academy, Eureka Academy, Iberia Academy, Gates Academy, Weeping Water Academy, and Procter Academy.

The five colleges—Rollins, Fairmount, Kingfisher, Redfield, and American International—have steadily increased in strength and efficiency.

Fairmount, Redfield, and Kingfisher Colleges have secured substantial increase of endowment.

Rollins has strengthened its hold upon the religious life of Florida, and the American International College, Springfield, Massachusetts, has awakened new interest by its splendid opportunity to reach the increasing foreign population of New England. It is making a special effort to reach the Latin races rapidly settling in our large cities. At present it is one of the unique and important educational institutions of our country, and its equipment and endowment should be greatly enlarged in order to meet the critical demands of the hour.

A year ago the Education Society gave its support to the Missionary Training School for Finns, which for two years has been accommodated in the buildings of the Boston Evangelical Institute of Revere, Massachusetts, through the generous courtesy of the trustees of that institution. This young school has shown its right to live by ministering indirectly to thousands of Finns settling in Massachusetts. Six students were graduated in May of this year, all of whom were secured for service before the close of the term. Fourteen are already enrolled for the coming year. The Education Society paid the salary of two instructors.

The Chicago Theological Seminary, through its three foreign institutes, is performing an increasingly valuable service in furnishing German, Swedish, and Danish-Norwegian pastors for the churches among these peoples. The Education Society has recently agreed to coöperate with the trustees of the seminary to increase the endowment of these institutes, so that the necessity of yearly appeals to the churches for current expenses may be removed. At present there are 241 Congregational churches in the United States among peoples speaking other than the English tongue, and 213 of these are among the races from Northern Europe.

In Utah the Society is pressing the work of education with vigor. Rev. S. H. Goodwin, pastor of the Congregational church in Provo, Utah, and principal of Procter Academy in that city, has been invited to devote his entire time to the interests of the Society, and especially to investigate the educational needs of that state.

The schools in Utah already under the Society's care are located at Salt Lake City, Bountiful, Heber, Coalville, Lehi, Provo, and Vernal. The school at Vernal, named after the former honored president of this Society, William H. Willcox, D.D., has already outgrown the new building erected this year, and the higher classes have been obliged to meet in the new Kingsbury Congregational Church. The school accommodations should be doubled at once to keep pace with the demands of the situation. With the Uintah reservation just opened for settlement, and with new towns springing up in a night, Willcox School is at a vantage point, and Christian statesmanship demands that the crisis be met. A population in Ashley Valley of 8,000 people looks to this one school as the best and highest educational institution in northeastern Utah.

In New Mexico the Society has an opportunity to expand and extend its work. The six schools located at Barelás, Atrisco, San Rafael, San Mateo, Cubero, and Seboyeta could easily be multiplied. Only a few weeks ago a Mexican offered to give the use of a building if the Society could furnish the teacher.

An industrial boarding school is sorely needed to furnish a Christian home training for Mexican students, and to provide also necessary courses to complete those of the lower grade schools. Industrial training in carpentry, blacksmithing, farming, and stock raising is a crying necessity in order to inculcate habits of thrift, industry, and widen the scope of life. Such a school would be quickly filled with eager young men. Already $3,000 is in the Society's treasury for this purpose, but not enough to permit the erection of a building on the Society's fine ranch.

The schools in Utah and New Mexico are unlike the others on the Society's list in that they are missionary in character. Our teachers, beside doing schoolroom work, are religious leaders in their communities, conducting Sunday schools and religious meetings, and our schoolhouses are the preaching stations for home missionary workers. If Congregationalists are to get hold of these two great sections of our country, it would be wise to generously maintain the schools of the Education Society.

President Charles O. Day of Andover Theological Seminary, as administrator of the Governor Phillips Fund, has sent during the year $300 to our superintendents in Utah and New Mexico for the purchase of religious books. These have been selected with great care, and constitute the only libraries of religious information in these two needy sections of our country.

One hundred and eighty students for the gospel ministry in our seminaries and colleges have received financial aid to the amount of $8,750. Twenty of these have accepted this aid as loans, for which they have given their notes—twelve in theological seminaries and eight in the colleges.

Inasmuch as there is but one Secretary of the Society and one Field Secretary in the West, the question of an adequate representation of the Society's work and needs before the 5,929 churches of our country is a serious one. The Directors, therefore, thought it wise to call upon the Rev. S. H. Goodwin, of Utah, Miss Honora DeBusk, New Mexico, Rev. M. J. Fenenga, of Wisconsin, President Herman Seil, of South Dakota, and Rev. J. W. Scroggs, of Oklahoma, to set forth the scope of our field. The result has been a greatly increased interest in the Society and an urgent call for more speakers. Two hundred and sixty-six addresses have been made this year before churches, state associations, conferences, women's meetings, state and local, Sunday schools, and Christian Endeavor Societies,

During the year two Directors have resigned—Rev. C. W. Huntington, D.D., Lowell, on account of his removal to Ohio, and Mr. William L. Greene, for many years an honored member of the Board. Rev. Samuel C. Bushnell, of Arlington, was chosen to fill the place of the Rev. Dr. Huntington.

The office of the Western Field Secretary, Rev. Theodore Clifton, has been moved from 151 Washington Street, Chicago, to 153 La Salle Street, Young Men's Christian Association Building. The advantages of this change are cheaper rent and neighborhood to our sister societies.

In closing, the Directors wish to say that the work of this Education Society is worthy of new interest because of the great foreign immigration. They believe that this Society is called on at the present time to open and maintain institutions of learning especially fitted to provide leaders among the foreign populations. Especially is this true in New England, and they ask that the churches increase their gifts to the Society in order that this work may be carried on.

SCHAUFFLER MISSIONARY TRAINING SCHOOL, CLEVELAND, OHIO

REPORT OF REV. THEODORE CLIFTON, D.D., Western Field Secretary

MUCH of the time this year, as in former years, has been devoted to aiding institutions in financial distress and in procuring endowments for the same. About one-third of the year has been given to this kind of work. But, notwithstanding these special tasks under orders from the Boston office, the regular work has not been interfered with, and the number of contributing churches and the regular income have not been diminished, thus indicating stability in the constituency of the Society which is being developed in the West.

Among the institutions receiving more or less personal attention during the year may be mentioned Windom Institute in Minnesota, the Schauffler Missionary Training School at Cleveland, Ohio, and the three foreign institutes affiliated with the Chicago Theological Seminary. Two trips to Minnesota resulted in $967 in cash for Windom Institute and the presentation of the Education Society's work in five pulpits. A trip to Cleveland, covering two Sundays and the intervening week, resulted in the presentation of the Society's interests and the training school's needs in four Cleveland pulpits and initial steps looking towards the endowment of that school. Following this was a visit to the East by invitation, going to Boston to see individuals in behalf of Windom Institute, and to Haverhill, Massachusetts, and New York City in behalf of the training school, as well as to confer with the Directors of the Education Society relative to a possible basis of coöperation in behalf of an endowment for the foreign institutes in Chicago.

The latter part of the year, covering February, March, April, and a part of May, was devoted to a campaign of education in Michigan. Addresses were delivered in thirty-one of the stronger churches of the state and nine local association meetings. The immediate fruitage of this campaign was the largest total in contributions from Michigan in the history of the state, with the exception of two successive years when an unusual amount of special work was done in behalf of the Society and Benzonia Academy. But the best fruitage is yet to come in enlarged gifts in the future, resulting from a quickened interest and a better understanding of the Society's work.

The total income of the Western field for the year through the Society's treasury aggregates $31,286.62. Besides this $11,725 in endowment notes and pledges have been raised, making a total in cash and promises for future payment of $42,013.62. This financial accounting, however, while encouraging, does not represent by any means the actual amount of money procured in the West through the agency of the Education Society. In a single instance the sum of $16,000 has come this year into the treasury of one of the Society's institutions, which the trustees of the school gratefully recognize as resulting largely from the Society's work. Other sums large and small have, in the same way, found their way to other institutions. So double the above cash aggregate would come nearer the exact facts as to the financial results of the year.

THE WORK OF THE WOMAN'S HOME MISSIONARY ORGANIZATIONS THROUGH THE CONGREGATIONAL EDUCATION SOCIETY

THE figures below will give some idea of the importance of women's interest in the cause of Christian education. The total amount received from twenty-three state organizations was $21,353.60, an increase of $4,022.02 over last year, and $7,846.81 over that of two years ago. While $10,611.02 came from New England, it is gratifying to report that the Western organizations have largely increased their gifts over those of previous years. An interest in the work of the Society is spreading.

Contributions by states are given below :

California	$43.10	Missouri	$833.61

CHICAGO THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY FOREIGN DEPARTMENTS

German Department

Professor O. H. Kraft

NUMBER of students was ten. Two of them graduated. One was called to South Dakota and the other one helps Rev. Mr. Lawall in Brooklyn, New York. The seven remaining students are working during vacation in different mission fields. The junior class was an exceptionally bright one. They have petitioned the faculty to be allowed to study four years instead of three. Of the five juniors three came from the Young Men's Christian Association at London, England, where they were converted and did work for the cause of the kingdom. Next year Latin and German will be among the subjects to be taught. Those students who will study four years do not expect help during the fourth year. The important event was the change in the associate professorship. Rev. H. Obenhaus was called to fill the place vacated by Professor Fox. Mr. Obenhaus graduated from Oberlin. He was thirteen years in the pastorate, is a practical theologian and scholar, and did very good work. He visited Germany this summer and pursued studies at Berlin. Lack of funds was one drawback. Last summer (1905) Professor Kraft went to Germany in the interest of the seminary, and Professor Fox was not reappointed. So no funds were raised. The German churches contributed only about $200, while I had raised $1,300 during 1904. We follow with interest the movement of raising $150,000 for the Foreign Institutes, and hope to be able to do our share in accomplishing the purpose. All the brethren who graduated during my three years of office are in the ministry and give satisfaction.

Swedish Department

The number of students has been twenty-seven, viz., six in the senior class, eight in the middle class, and thirteen in the junior class, which is just the same number as last school year. Nine of these students have come from Congregational churches, the balance from independent churches. Eight have come from the Eastern states, and nineteen from Chicago and the West. In the graduating class two will be pastors in Congregational churches in the West, one will take charge of an independent church in Chicago, and two expect to go to South America as missionaries.

The courses of study laid out in the Year-Book have been fulfilled. Some students also have had some studies with the Christian Institute and with the English classes in Hebrew, Greek, etc.

Six students have had regular charge of churches, ten others have been preaching more or less regularly, all students in the two upper classes have preached regularly in our Swedish Bethlehem (Congregational) Church, under Professor Peterson as pastor of the church, and the other students have conducted prayer meetings and had Sunday school classes there.

The Danish-Norwegian Institute

The Danish-Norwegian Institute this spring completes twenty-two years of work since its inception. During that time it has had 129 students, fifty-six of whom have been graduated, including this year's class, which numbers five men.

When the institute began its work we had only one Norwegian Congregational church in America. We have now forty-five churches, more or less closely associated with us, and not less than twenty mission stations besides, supplied regularly by our pastors.

Our weekly newspaper, Evangelisten, has a subscription list of nearly 5,000. We have a bookstore in connection with the paper, and have just published a new hymn book, with music, containing more than 500 hymns, at an expense of about $3,500.

During the year we have had fourteen students in the institute, three of whom have been dismissed, leaving eleven men—five in the senior class, one in the middle, and five in the junior class. The men in the senior class were all engaged for pastoral or missionary work after graduation. One goes as a missionary to China, three to New York and New England. The work of the students has been satisfactory, and their training is coming to be recognized by the churches year by year, so that we have no difficulty whatever in finding places for the men who graduate. The work grows much faster than the increase in our graduates.

The professors have, as usual, spent their vacation in visiting the Norwegian churches, preaching the gospel, and presenting the financial needs of the institute. Professor Grauer visited the churches in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and in North Dakota; Professor Jernberg those in New England and the Eastern states. The result of this work has been gratifying, as the churches subscribed about $500.

There is no doubt that the emergency of the seminary has been the means of drawing our Scandinavian churches much nearer to the institutes, and that their interest in our work has been greatly increased by the presentation of it made to them by the professors during the past three years.

Nevertheless, it is evident that this method of supporting the work cannot be the permanent one. The endeavor to provide for an adequate endowment for the institutes now being made will undoubtedly have the hearty support of all the friends of this important work.

COLLEGES

American International College, Springfield, Massachusetts

President S. H. Lee, D.D.

THE new name of this institution proves satisfactory and effective. It attracts attention and commands respect. This is the only institution in the United States expressly established and conducted to meet the peculiar needs as to higher Christian education presented by our multitudinous immigrant population. That this population needs unique treatment and special adaptations in order that they may be adequately educated for leadership in American life is very clear.

In the providence of God America has become the teacher of the nations, and those who have studied appreciatingly the foreigner are sure to find that we have a new pedagogical problem on our hands. The public schools do a great work for everybody, but in the sphere of higher education there is no adequate provision made for the foreign mind. Ordinary colleges, however excellent, are adjusted to the American mind. If Amherst College were set down in the city of Rome it would be no more out of touch with the life there than it is with the two millions of Italians in this country. The University of Rome, on the other hand, would find a congenial atmosphere among the large foreign population of the city of Boston.

We have to make adaptations to foreigners in America, as missionaries have to make adaptations to foreigners in Italy or India. The Methodist institution in the city of Rome, of which Bishop Burt was for many years president, has worked out this problem of adaptation, and is eminently effective and beneficent. When organized in American fashion it was a failure. Bishop Burt learned to adjust things to the conditions. We have the same thing to do here. We must have the American spirit; we must possess and be possessed by the Christianity of the New Testament; we must adapt our religious teaching to the foreigner's state of mind; we must afford the linguistic training very fully; we must maintain the Biblical conception of man, his rights and responsibilities; and we must do all this with due respect to the instinctive tendency and higher ideals of the foreign races, and so bring into our life the good things which these races have and by which the national life may be enriched.

This college endeavors to grow a ministry of the gospel, a ministry of healing, a ministry of justice, a ministry of instruction, and a ministry of the home and of the social order. The evangelization of foreigners by foreigners in America, by un-Americanized foreigners, is certain to fail. It has sadly failed. The work can best be done, not by Americans nor by foreigners, but by educated foreign Americans.

During the year past we have had ninety-eight students of fifteen different races — Italians, Armenians, French, Greeks, Bulgarians, etc.

Of our former students fourteen are preachers in six languages; five are studying or practicing medicine; eight are studying or practicing law; six are college instructors; one is a professor of Romance languages in Northwestern University; one is doing the same work in the University of Chicago; one is a professor of English in Costa Rica Government University; one is just elected professor of Romance languages in Dartmouth College; one young man, a Greek, is a civil engineer; four college graduates and numerous academy students are well established in business.

The college challenges the respectful attention of Christian and patriotic men and women. It is entitled to intelligent encouragement and sympathetic coöperation. It embodies a great idea. It stands in the forefront of educational progress. It faces the vast future of this land. It is indispensable for the promotion of Christian civilization. And that it should tarry with a hundred students, when with enlarged facilities it might easily be training six hundred, shadows with doubt the wisdom, foresight, patriotism, and piety of the favored sons and daughters of New England. It needs money—money for current expenses, dormitories, aids in teaching and endowment. The Lord has piles of money. Will those to whom he has intrusted it recognize in this institution a call for immediate and generous service?

Fairmount College, Wichita, Kansas

President N. J. Morrison, Jr.

The last college year has witnessed steady progress in all directions—the attendance of students the largest in our brief history, particularly in the college proper; the corps of instructors enlarged and strengthened; the standard of required scholarship raised to keep pace with the advance in Eastern schools; deepening religious interest, as shown by greater zeal in Bible study, by the work of the two Christian Associations, in accessions to the churches, and in the decision by young men to enter the gospel ministry; and marked increase in material resources.

During the year the dormitory for men has been completed at a cost of about $30,000. On Commencement day, June 6, the fine modern structure was set apart for its appropriate uses by addresses, music, an original poem, and prayer. It was christened "Fiske Hall," after a generous benefactor of the institution, whose many noble gifts to education have enriched and blessed many communities throughout the country, north, south, east, and west.

The hall will accommodate sixty students besides the family in charge. An instructor during nine years in the college, beloved by the students, with his accomplished wife, has consented to reside in the hall and make for the boys a Christian home.

In May the trustees notified Mr. Carnegie that they had fulfilled the required condition of his proffered gift of $40,000 for a library building. Unfortunately the notification did not reach Mr. Carnegie till after his arrival in Scotland for the summer. In consequence some delay in beginning the work of construction is probable. The plans for the building have been drawn by an architect who is an expert in library construction, and are unusually perfect, especially in the interior disposition of the parts essential to the working of a public library.

The library is intended for the public no less than for the college. The bound books now number over 26,000, and are increasing at the rate of two or three thousand a year.

Plans for endowing certain departments of the library are now in process of execution. Thus we expect a fund of $10,000 for the growth and maintenance of the department of Jewish literature, and a like sum for other departments, as English literature, Oriental literature, modern physical science, Americana, history, etc.

Henceforth Fairmount Academy (preparatory department) will have its own separate administration and instructors. Thorough elementary technical instruction, of the grade of the technical high school of Massachusetts, is planned. During the college year 1906-07 we have undertaken to add $200,000 to the present assets of the college. Part of this sum will be used to erect a much needed additional dormitory for women, and the remainder be chiefly added to the endowment.

KINGFISHER COLLEGE, KINGFISHER, OKLAHOMA

Kingfisher College, Kingfisher, OklahomaPresident J. T. House

The best year in the history of the college has just closed. It is the best for the following reasons:

(a) The attendance in the college department has been larger than ever before, nearly half a hundred. This is no small matter in this new country, where for the first ten years people exhausted their energies battling with the wilderness.

(b) More students have been able to "work their way" by means of our industries than ever before. The cement stone plant, the broom factory, and the printing office have been in almost constant operation. Some of our best students have worked in these. Our general farming, too, has been more productive, and has furnished more labor for students. These things have not detracted, but rather have increased the efficiency of the college in its intellectual work. With the hearty approval of Dr. Pearsons we have purchased the large and well-improved farm lying between the college and the town. The purchase has aroused a good deal of enthusiasm among students and friends. The trustees are making careful plans looking to the development of market gardening, dairying, etc., in order that a yet larger number of poor and worthy young people may have a chance to secure an education.

(c) Many material improvements have been made. The donor of Osgood Hall, Miss M. Louise Sturtevant, has added to her gifts that of a heating plant for the building—a greatly needed improvement. So careful were the trustees in the expenditure of the funds that a sum was left sufficient to construct a cement walk from Osgood Hall to Parker Hall. This work was done by students, under the direction of Professor H. G. Titt. The work was very successfully accomplished.

(d) We have nearly completed our endowment fund. Help us to make this work perfect.

Our needs are great. Our one recitation hall is used for recitation rooms, laboratories, printing office, music rooms, library, and assembly room. The congestion at certain hours is almost intolerable. We need a new building to cost not less than $30,000. Let not our friends be appalled. New demands spell progress.

Oklahoma with the Indian Territory is about to become a state. The new commonwealth will have a population of more than a million. The breaking up of the tribal relations will make the Indian Territory the greatest missionary field in America. In view of this condition a band of young men has been organized in Kingfisher College, having in view (a) a Christian education, (b) the Christian ministry, (c) a home missionary pastorate for each one of them in the new state. Who shall say that this band will do a work less vital than that done by the famous haystack group? The home missionary college is essential to the church, to the ideals of its laymen, to the ideals and consecration of its clergy. May Kingfisher be enabled to do for Oklahoma the high type of work that is so sorely needed!

President Herman Seil

The year 1905-06 has closed with the outlook for the future bright and hopeful. The number of students was about the same as last year, one-third coming from the homes of the German settlers in the North and Southwest. Fourteen of our German students have the ministry in view; three are entering the Theological Seminary in Chicago this fall.

The moral and religious tone of the school has been very pronounced. Very few of the young men have remained outside the influence of the Young Men's Christian Association; several very marked conversions have taken place.

Mr. Carnegie has conditioned his promise of $15,000 for a library building upon the raising of an additional $50,000 to the endowment fund. This will be the great task for the coming year.

The trustees have ordered the finishing (inside) of the new building, which will give Redfield one of the finest gymnasiums in the state. A heating plant also is in process of erection, at a cost of nearly $4,000.

The most pressing need just now is the gift of $10,000 to pay above mentioned expenses.

The school acknowledges very gratefully the receipt of $150 from the trustees of Governor Phillips Fund of Andover. The money has been used to enlarge the library.

Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida

President William F. Blackman

Rollins College has now reached its majority, having completed the twenty-first year of its existence. It recalls the past with gratitude and satisfaction, and it faces the future with high hope.

The past year has been in many respects the best in the history of the institution. More students have been enrolled than ever before, it having been found necessary to make use of a cottage off the campus as a supplementary dormitory for young men.

The receipts for tuition were about fifty per cent in excess of those of the previous year, and for room rents about twenty-five per cent, the total increase in both these items being $3,074.16. This indicates not only an increasing attendance of students, but also increasing prosperity throughout the state, with consequent increasing ability on the part of pupils to pay all charges in full.

Among the students have been a niece of the governor of the state, a nephew of the member for this district of the national House of Representatives, a nephew of the president of the state Senate, and children from families of leading influence in Atlanta, Birmingham, and other Southern cities.

This fact is mentioned as indicating that the prejudice against Rollins formerly, and naturally, felt to some extent on the part of the Southern people, as being an institution of Northern origin and character, is passing away.

We greatly need several new buildings. The chapel is ill adapted to its use, and is too small. Our facilities for instruction in the natural sciences are meager to the point of embarrassment; we imperatively need a Science Hall, which should also house the School of Domestic and Industrial Arts. We require, also, another dormitory for young men, and an addition to the dormitory for young women. We need a building for the accommodation of the thriving School of Music; at present our fifteen pianos are scattered about all over the campus and beyond its limits, and their unceasing clamor interferes with study and with the work of the recitation and lecture room.

There is also great need of a Library and Administration Building. The offices are exceedingly inadequate and inconvenient, and our teachers—many of whom formerly taught in leading colleges and universities of the North, where they were accustomed to the use of large and rich collections of books—find themselves seriously hampered in their work here by lack of tools with which to do it. Perhaps nothing is more needed, to give the college tone and efficiency and higher standing among scholars and before the public, than a building of this character, suitably equipped.

Mr. Carnegie has offered to erect such a building, provided the college add the sum of $20,000 to its Endowment Fund. Who will help us to take advantage of this generous offer?

PROCTOR ACADEMY, PROVO, UTAH

UTAH

Annual Report of Rev. S. H. Goodwin, Superintendent

THE people whose homes are in this state, and whose customs and beliefs have come to have a vital interest for the entire nation, have come from the north and the south, the east and the west. Every state in the Union has made its contribution to the population of Utah, and every civilized country of the world has given of its sons and daughters.

These people have turned their steps toward this intermountain state — this modern Zion — as the devout Jew of olden time turned his face toward the city of God. And those who accept the claims and believe the teachings of the Mormon prophet and yet remain in distant lands turn their eyes and their thoughts hitherward in somewhat the same spirit, I fancy, as led Daniel to open his lattice toward Jerusalem.

Once in Utah, the new convert to Mormonism places himself without reserve under the direction of the church officials. From the first he is taught the absolute necessity of following his leader, of "obeying counsel," of rendering an unquestioning obedience to the authorities.

Tithing and obedience to the priesthood furnish themes for a part — in many instances for all — of the addresses given at the conferences of the church. Of course numberless other themes are dealt with, for it is a characteristic of Mormon speakers to wander at will over a broad field; but the two subjects named may be regarded as basal, for by means of the one the "sinews of war" are provided, and of the other the lives and interests of tens of thousands of people are placed at the disposal or under the direction of a handful of men.

Those who are born into Mormonism are trained in the doctrines of the church from infancy — they know no other teaching; and so, though at times some rebel against the authority of the church, still they find it difficult to get away and out of the meshes which hold them.

Hence it often happens that when a young man is marked as becoming indifferent or cold, or wild, for the matter of that, he is certain to be summoned to go on a mission, and the training of a lifetime compels him to obey; and when he returns he is "established in the faith."

These two principles make it possible for the presidency of the church to secure means for carrying out vast projects of colonization and development of new sections, and to command the services of the faithful for any undertaking. The word is uttered by those in authority, and families leave their homes and go to other states or countries in order that "the faith" may there be established.

It was against this condition, this fact (that the good Latter Day Saint must and will obey the priesthood, or suffer in his material interests and endanger his spiritual concerns), that the protest of the Ministerial Association of Salt Lake was leveled.

The apostles of the church preach absolute, unquestioning obedience to the priesthood; are they themselves exempt?

Is there one law for the rank and file of the church, and another for the members of the priesthood or the first presidency?

If the church can say to one man, "The interests of the kingdom require that you shall go to Canada or Mexico or into an adjoining state," is it beyond the range of possibility, or is it unfair to conclude, that the same power may, on occasion, intimate to an apostle in the United States Senate that the same interests require him to advocate or oppose certain measures, or to wink at and overlook certain conditions which are opposed alike to the sentiments of our people and to the laws of our land?

Well, in the midst of conditions of which the foregoing is but a hint, the Education Society is carrying on a work the aim of which is to build up a loyal Christian citizenship in this state of great needs and vast possibilities.

Looking back over the way we have come, not much appears which seems to demand a place in this report. We have been too busy making a record to give any time or thought to the writing of one.

Here and there along the way, however, some incidents emerge from the common level of our activities and seem to call for passing notice.

In two instances we have had the open and rather active hostility of church authorities.

In one case the stake president interviewed practically every scholar, and succeeded in taking away six or eight of the older students and making it decidedly uncomfortable for others. In the same town, at the closing exercises of the public schools, a teacher from the Brigham Young University of Provo, who gave the address, took occasion to advertise the school with which he is connected, and to tell the good people that their children could get nothing beyond the eighth grade in that town.

This statement he repeated several times. A prominent lawyer of the place, whose father was a recent president of the stake, took exception to this remark, inasmuch as his own daughter had taken the work of the first year in the high school in our school.

In a strong letter to the local paper he set forth his reasons for objecting to the speaker's statement, and incidentally gave our work some free advertising. The significant part of the incident lies in the fact that the school authorities acknowledged both to the lawyer and our teachers the unfairness of the professor's assertions, and endeavored to make a scapegoat of the speaker.

Over in the eastern part of the state, where our Vernal school is doing a remarkable work, conditions are most encouraging. Since the report of a year ago the Uintah Indian Reservation, which comes quite near to Vernal, has been opened to settlement by the government. Hundreds of families have taken up homesteads, and Vernal has experienced a genuine boom.

Our new schoolhouse, which was made ready for occupancy early in the winter, is already too small. In fact, it was shown to be inadequate for our needs within two months from the time of its completion.

In January it was found necessary to add another teacher to the force there, and at the same time to make requisition upon the church building for room. From that time on the church was used for the more advanced classes.

Is there not some good friend of our work who is able and willing to provide for the literal "raising of the roof" of our new building, so that at least two additional rooms may be placed at the disposal of our hard-pressed teachers there? The field is one of unusual promise. Shall we work it for the Master, or shall we only partly meet our opportunities till others step in? The Mormon Church is fully alive to conditions there, and is planning to enlarge and better its own school work.

Procter Academy had a larger number in the high school department than ever before. Those who understand how difficult it is to induce scholars to go beyond the eighth grade will appreciate what it means to have fifty young people doing high school work.

Two incidents which show how the leaven is working in various ways and how conditions are being modified may be mentioned here. One is the appointment by the governor of the principal of Procter Academy to a position on an important commission that was created by the legislature to investigate the duplication of work in the State University and the Agricultural College of Utah, and to make recommendations to the legislature. The commission was composed of nine men, the governor being a member and chairman. Not often has the state turned to a "missionary minister" for any service.

The mayor of Provo also appointed the principal of Procter to a position on the board of trustees of the Public Library. The city has been without a free library or any public library, and this board had to secure books, organize, and set in operation a public library.

Once also, it might be added, the people of his ward (almost solidly Mormon) sent Procter's principal as a delegate to the county (political) convention.

These things are mentioned here to show how the forces which have so long been at work are gradually but surely making themselves felt, and are modifying conditions in this beehive state. To those who are at a distance and who have no knowledge of the situation other than that gleaned from some who may have spent a little time here, and who feel that unless Mormons are being brought by the wholesale into the church little is being accomplished, these and other matters that might be mentioned may seem so meager as hardly to be worth while. But to those who are informed concerning conditions here, and who know how securely intrenched is the power which dominates all things in the state, the facts mentioned have a deep significance. Far-reaching results are being accomplished every day by our work, but these results do not lend themselves readily to tabulation, and the Joshuas and Hurs weary of holding up the hands.

"God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform."

But he moves and he performs that to which he sets his hand. We can limit his power by our indifference and unwillingness, but we cannot defeat his purposes.

Bountiful

Enrollment, fifty; average, twenty-nine. We closed on Wednesday evening, June 6. The evening was gloomy and chill after a three days' rain, but the schoolroom was quite well filled, and all seemed much interested in the educational address delivered by Rev. Wildman Murphy, the Presbyterian pastor from American Fork.

We had but one graduate this year; one of the eighth grade having been obliged to leave school on account of her health, and another having gone to work at the beginning of the spring term.

The enrollment has not been so large this year, being but fifty, but those in school regularly have made good progress, and the average daily attendance has been better than last year for number enrolled.

Our numbers were decreased by the building of a fine new public school, to which every child in town wished to go as soon as it opened; but we hear of some pupils who may return to us in the fall, and quite a large number of beginners are to start then.

The Sunday school has been about as last year, with the addition of a Bible class for the older people, which has had a fairly good attendance and has been helpful. We have three teachers and three classes, which makes it possible to do better work than with but two teachers.

We have been sorry not to have any preaching service this year. The Home Missionary Society must have forgotten us. Though I've tried several times I have been unable to secure a minister of our denomination to hold even occasional services here.

We have had careful and efficient teaching by Miss Nympha Whalley in the primary department. The work is so much more satisfactory with two teachers, and the dropping of one teacher would lose to us half the pupils we have now.

The Sabbath school enrollment about thirty; average attendance, fifteen.

Coalville

School opened in September with an enrollment of six. Total enrollment for the year has been thirty-eight, with an average attendance of twenty.

Several families moved away from Coalville, thus taking their children out of school and decreasing the attendance for a time; but their places were filled later by others who came in, some from other towns and a few from the public schools here.

Seven grades were taught, the fifth being lacking. A kindergarten class was also taught.

Most of the pupils have taken a great deal of interest in their work.

I have felt quite encouraged about the Sunday school work. Although we started work with only a small attendance, the number steadily increased during the fall and winter.

The greatest number has been twenty-five, while the average attendance has been about sixteen.

The children seem anxious to come, but sometimes find it a difficult matter to persuade their parents to allow it. Toward spring the attendance decreased, partly on account of a misunderstanding on my part about sending for the supplies (their failure to arrive suspended the work for a few Sundays), and partly on account of the opposition of the church authorities—not direct, but by their influence in underhanded ways.

But more than ever before, I believe, the parents are beginning to consider the work actually done by the teacher and pupils in the school and the progress of the pupils rather than church differences, and consequently will place their children where they will do the best work.

The interest in both school work and Sunday school work could be increased very much by the aid of a suitable musical instrument.

Heber

The number of grades taught this year has been ten; the enrollment sixty-six, with an average attendance of thirty-seven. Of these some twenty-one were of sixteen years or more, making the average age in the grammar room two years greater than it was last year. I call your attention to this because it used to be the case that a very large proportion of our pupils, in some places, were four and a half, five, and six years of age. The public schools do not take children under six, so they would be sent to ours until old enough to go there.

The dominant sect in Utah always objects to any one entering our buildings, but there is far more trouble made over a child of ten than over a little one; and when the age is seventeen or more, the good brethren are disturbed.

The president of the stake talks with our young people as they come out of school, and, though we do not hear the conversation, we can readily surmise its nature.

Of the six public school graduates beginning a high school course last fall, three have persevered in spite of the opposition, and will receive certificates.

The Mormon Church does not approve of public high schools, consequently these are found only where there is quite a large Gentile element. In these towns there is never anything beyond the eighth grade, unless they start a Latter Day Saints institution, where each pupil takes a course in Mormon theology.

This year there has been an abundance of work for three teachers. On the whole, the outlook is very encouraging.

The Sunday school was always attended by thirty or thereabouts until January, when a vigorous campaign suddenly reduced the numbers about one-half. Twenty-two were present here on a Sunday in June, but as a rule we have a smaller number now, and they are mostly under twelve.

Of course the opposition to the day school has been continual, and doubtless has kept away many who talked of entering, but apparently had little effect on those who had already begun. But pressure was brought to bear in February, which took out a few of the older pupils.

A few days ago one of our patrons whom the authorities have been trying to prejudice against the Education Society's school told them her children were doing well and she should continue to send to us.

The Utah young people are, as a rule, a promising class, and would fill up our advanced room if the opposition were only moderate.

Lehi

The enrollment has been ninety-seven, with an average attendance of fifty-two; number of grades taught, nine.

The seemingly low average of attendance is due largely to the late entrance into school of many of the boys, to the fact that many live out of town and the winter has been severe, and to the crowded condition of the primary room, making it necessary to drop one class.

The enrollment in primary room exceeded that of last year by ten, and the total enrollment is only one less than that of last year. The average attendance, too, is one less than last year. Two teachers this year have done the work which three did a number of years. The high school department was small because of the lack of the third teacher.

The school year closed May 28. Three boys were awarded diplomas from the grammar department. The graduating exercises, as well as the "At Home" on the afternoon of the 25th, were well attended by patrons and friends, and the teachers were made to feel that the school year had been a very successful one.

The Sunday school has been held regularly. The enrollment has been sixty, with an average of thirty-three. This is about ten in advance of last year.

A very interesting Easter program was given, at which time a collection of $5.35 was taken for the Japan sufferers.

A Children's Day exercise will be given later. The collections at Sunday school are sufficient to pay for all supplies.

A Sunday evening service, after the order of a Christian Endeavor prayer meeting, with a sermon read by one of the teachers, has been maintained throughout the year; but the real need can only be met by a pastor.

The Alumni Association was reorganized recently with about thirty resident members, and later a banquet was held. The loyalty shown, the social spirit, and the toasts would have done credit to a larger institution farther east.

A quarter of a century has passed since the establishment of this school. During that time scores of boys and girls have availed themselves of better teaching than the public schools afforded. Many of these boys and girls, now grown to manhood and womanhood, are sending their children to "our" school, and living over again in them the good days in the New West Education Commission.

Perhaps most of them, in name, are still Mormons, but they are liberal, broad-minded ones, ever willing to champion the cause and stand by the Congregational school.

We cannot estimate the good influence of the school upon this community, and a greater calamity could not befall its people than to close it.

That it was necessary to lessen the teaching force by one was a great misfortune, for there are many of our young people ready for work above the eighth grade who cannot afford to go away to school, and who will probably enter the high school or go to work without an education.

The outlook often is not encouraging, but we are not to count the output or to expect the harvest, but to learn to labor and wait, knowing that in due season we shall reap if we faint not.

Willcox School, Vernal

Enrollment, one hundred and seventy-one; average attendance, one hundred.

The Willcox School opened September 11, the high school department using the new church building and the lower grades the old schoolhouse rented last year.

On the 1st of November the three-roomed brick building beside the church was finished, and the school took possession with suitable exercises. A flag bought by the pupils was raised.

The school steadily increased, and early in January, with the kind permission of the trustees, the high school returned to the church. Miss Pinkham, a graduate of Colby University, was added to the list of teachers, to the great relief of Mrs. Chance and Miss Avery.

The winter was remarkably healthful. The ground was covered with snow for three months, and the attendance was excellent; but many of the patrons had taken claims on the newly opened Reservation, and some of them were obliged to go to their homesteads in March, and many more in April and May. This, of course, greatly reduced the attendance.

Some of the encouragements of the year have been the course of lectures freely given to the school by leading professional people of the city, the organization of a Junior Society of Christian Endeavor by the pastor's wife, and the growth of the Sunday school—which now has an enrollment of seventy-one, with an average attendance of forty-five.

There is no more promising field for Christian work than this Ashley Valley, and $10,000 are needed at once to enable the Society to enlarge the new building to twice its present capacity and erect a dormitory for students from a distance. The newly opened Reservation, just at the door of the school, is attracting thousands of settlers who would naturally send their young people to Willcox School if there were accommodations.

Will some rich man give the Society the needed sum?

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL SITE, ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO

NEW MEXICO

Annual Report of Rev. J. H. Heald, Superintendent

OUR school year opened early last September with the annual Teachers' Conference, in which many of the peculiar problems of our work were discussed. The spirit of progress was manifest in all the papers and discussions.

An advance along several lines was determined upon. One of these lines was that of practical instruction in English. While our schools have always taught English, it was felt that a more resolute effort should be made to get the pupils to talk English. This is difficult in a village where they hear nothing but Spanish outside the schoolroom. The Mexican children are very modest and timid about attempting to talk anything but their native tongue. Nevertheless encouraging progress has been made during the year, and we hope to be able to provide each child that continues a considerable length of time in school with a good working nucleus of English.

More attention than hitherto has been given to instruction in music. Our people are a music-loving race, but have been without the means of acquiring the art of making good music. The village fiddler is in great demand alike at dance and funeral, and as his repertory is small he uses the same tunes for both occasions. The children like to sing, and with skillful teaching readily learn to sing by note.

The most decided departure of the year was the introduction of industrial work. The need of industrial training has long been felt by the workers on this field. Our people are a race of shepherds, and the training of the hand has been neglected. After long waiting for the proposed industrial school, it was resolved to make a beginning in the day schools. Although the demands on the time and strength of the teachers were already great, on account of the bilingual character of the work, they have by careful planning found time for this new department. After getting this work well started it has been found that it can be carried on without taking much time from the regular studies.

Where the work has been thoroughly tested, it has been found to increase the interest of both parents and children in the school, and to promote greater regularity of attendance. In many instances children have become so absorbed in their work that they have preferred it to play during the periods of recreation. It has been found that some children who were very dull at learning from books were very bright in manual pursuits. The hand has proved to be the key with which to unlock the closed mental faculties. The work has, of course, been very rudimentary, and in no wise takes the place of the proposed industrial school, but prepares the way for it, and emphasizes the need and importance of such an institution.

From every point of view such a school is demanded. Industrial training is needed, not only for the purpose of preparing the pupil to gain a livelihood, but is no less valuable for intellectual and moral ends. The mind is better trained together with the hand. An unbalanced education is always a peril, especially so in the early stages of race development. The educated Mexican is too good for a shepherd, and if he knows no trade he naturally gravitates to the bar (not the kind where law but where liquor is dispensed) as the easiest means of livelihood.

Some of the forms of manual work successfully introduced this year have been sewing, weaving, crocheting, hemstitching, drawn work, and basketry. Beginning with the simplest kindergarten work with the little ones, we have tried to find something for every pupil within the range of his powers. The good work has been greatly hampered for want of funds to provide the necessary materials. And I would suggest that the women's unions and other generous patrons of our schools could greatly increase their efficiency by providing a fund of fifty dollars a year for each school, with which needed materials and utensils could be bought.

While we are thus doing the best we can with the means at hand, we feel with increasing force the need of a central industrial school where this training may be carried to its legitimate conclusion in teaching the trades. We hope and pray that before another school year is completed the remaining dollars needed to build the proposed school will be added to those that are impatiently waiting in the bank, and that the waiting site will be crowned with an edifice worthy of this noble cause.

The interest in our schools on the part of pupils and parents has never surpassed, if it has ever equaled, that of the past school year. Some of our schools have been overcrowded, and attendance has been good in all except where the pupils have been carried away to fill the government Indian schools. These schools are doing an excellent work for the Indians. Some of them, finding the supply of Indians inadequate to fill their quota and draw the full appropriation, have proceeded to make Indians of our Mexican boys and girls. The fact that the parents are obliged to swear that the children possess one-fourth Indian blood has proved no obstacle, although, as a Mexican father said to me :

"This matter of Indian blood, it is a lie without malice ; they have no Indian blood."

We would not willingly deprive any Mexican child of an opportunity for an education, but we feel that unless entrance to these schools can be permitted without a false oath it were better refused.

We have followed this year our unvarying habit of avoiding so far as possible all conflict with the Catholic Church, and I am happy to say that relations with Catholic priest and people have in most cases been amicable and pleasant. The effort of the priesthood has been confined for the most part to an endeavor to prevent the children from attending Sunday school and preaching services. At Barelas, however, there has been a vigorous but unsuccessful effort on the part of the priest to break up our school. Dire threats of excommunication have been made, both in public and in house to house visitation, if the people did not cease to patronize our school.

The cause of this crusade has been the fact that many of the pupils have deserted the public school (so called) taught by the sisters to come to ours. Some years ago the priest and the school directors connived together to break up our school by building a public schoolhouse alongside our building and putting the sisters there to teach the catechism, while the public paid the bill. The move was temporarily successful, and we were obliged to move our school to its present location. Now the children are following us, and the parents are saying that they would be happy to send their children to a Catholic school, but they want to send them where they will learn something, therefore they send them to our school. It is a case where good work has triumphed against great odds. The people recognize the difference between good work and poor work, and want their children to have the best.

Atrisco

Enrollment, eighty nine ; average attendance, thirty.

Sunday school, church services, and prayer meetings have been held regularly throughout the entire year.

The Mexicans are very kind to us, and always willing to help our school by speaking a word in its favor ; and even those who are not Protestants help us in our socials and patriotic entertainments by lending their public halls free and taking part as best they can.

When they have something that they think is especially nice to eat, they think they ought to divide with us.

We appreciate their kind thoughtfulness, even if it is something hot with chili.

This year our little church made a special effort to raise money for the debt of the Home Missionary Society. After the pastor had told them about the debt and the good the society was doing, an old man arose and made quite a long speech.

He said if he had the money he would pay the whole debt, but as he could not do that he would give five dollars.

A woman brought her little daughter to school, and said that she herself had gone to school to Mrs. Collings when she was a little girl. She said she was not a Protestant, but that she wanted her daughter educated in a Protestant school.

The teachers are rejoicing because there will be a house to live in next year.

Barelas

The total enrollment for the year has been one hundred and forty-one, an increase of thirty-two over last year; the average daily attendance, fifty-seven. The number of seats with desks in both schoolrooms is fifty-four, allowing but very limited floor space unoccupied by seats. For five months of the year our average daily attendance ranged from sixty to seventy-nine, so imagination can easily picture the uncomfortable condition.

The zealous priest who has been so exercised over our work this year has been very active in his efforts to secure more public schools for Barelas for the coming year. His efforts, doubtless, are based upon his belief that Catholic sisters will be employed as teachers in these schools. All public school-teachers at present employed in the Mexican villages of old Albuquerque and Barelás are Catholic sisters (with the exception of one man, who also is a Catholic), who are always attired in the garb of their order. This fact gives rise to the belief in the minds of many people here that the schools in these villages are parochial schools.

It is reported that two new public school buildings will be ready for use in Barelás next September. We trust that this report is true, for the village swarms with children who ought to be in some school, and many of the people are already demanding more efficient teachers for their children.

A brother missionary tells me we are doing good missionary work when we force these priests to advocate more and better public schools for their people.

Rev. Mr. Moya, of the little church at Los Ranchos, has been very faithful in his services on Sabbath and on Thursday evenings. There have been no accessions to the church from our community this year, but it has been gratifying to note the interest of several men, heads of families, in the Thursday evening service. They question Mr. Moya very intelligently regarding their opinions, and one man who can read Spanish has borrowed books treating of the Reformation, that he may read for himself.

About six dollars was given one Thursday night for the great home missionary debt, and when one stops to think that some of the contributors were poor, hard-working men, speaking a foreign tongue and still holding their Catholic faith, it was an occasion for much thankfulness.

The children have done especially good hand work; but we have had so little time in school to devote to this extra work that the children have solved the problem by working before school, during most of the noon intermission, and as long as the teacher would remain with them after school.

Seven fine comforts have been completed and carried home. The girls paid for the cotton batting used, but all other materials were contributed. Several other comforts will be completed before our year closes. Those who have finished their comforts are now busy with cushion covers.

Some twenty-five denim book bags with embroidered initials have been completed by boys and girls; also as many sewing bags with embroidered initial have been made by girls alone. Spool knitting and basket making are now occupying the attention of the boys. The success of the children in this hand work seems to stimulate them to better work in school. I have great faith in educating the hand of any child, and especially that of the Mexican child. For a Mexican to be profitably employed would be a great stride toward his salvation.

Cubero

Enrollment, sixty-three; average attendance, twenty-eight.

This year we have added to our enrollment a member of the last family which has been numbered among our strongest opponents. In no household have we been received with greater demonstrations of pleasure than in this one.

In fact, the whole attitude of the people has changed from that of indifference, tolerance, suspicion, and active opposition to that of friendliness. Many kindly acts show the genuine hold the teachers have won in the regard of their constituents.

The very pride of the people in the acquirements of their children defeats its own end in some instances, when the parents take the child away from school and put it to work just as the child has reached a point where further school work would be accomplished with great ease and pleasure, not only to the child, but to the teachers. One young girl this year, bright and ambitious, is considered by her parents to be so far advanced in her books for her years that she has only been allowed to be in school two months, those two months being separated by an interval of several weeks.

The natural result will be that younger children are already outstripping her, and that her interest will be reawakened with difficulty, if ever.

One hundred and twelve persons have been present at different times in the Sunday school.

The average attendance fluctuates, and, while small, seems to be on the increase. Families who have been opposed to the day school have not yet given their allegiance to the Sunday school, but they seem to be a little more willing to have their children attend occasionally.

The whole outlook for Cubero seems to be for the better. The one thing lacking is to have our work extended and crowned by the establishment and thorough equipment of our industrial school.

San Mateo

Enrollment, eighty; average attendance, forty-eight; Sabbath school enrollment, one hundred and fifty; average, thirty-five.

It is pleasing to notice the heartiness with which the people have responded when there has been a call for repairs or work on the school building.

Eight years ago more adequate apartments were needed for the school and teachers. We needed a room for the primary department, as an associate was given me, and it was imperative to have a place for her and the "tots."

I presented the matter to the people and asked if they would not help in this work. They gladly responded in the affirmative. Two thousand adobes were made and brought to the schoolhouse; men came to raise the walls; others went to the sawmill, forty-five miles away, for lumber (we paid for the lumber), doing the hauling gratis. Women came and plastered the rooms inside.

Four years ago the schoolhouse needed to be plastered on the outside. I asked the people if they would not help, and twenty-two people came four days and did the work. It takes time and many hands to do the plastering, as the work is all done by hand. The mud is mixed and then is carried by handfuls to the ones who are spreading it on the walls. Two coats are put on, and much hard labor is expended.

Our building in San Mateo needs to be repaired, and I plan to have the people help. I've spoken to some about it, and they have expressed a willingness to help in any way.

It is not always easy to keep them at their tasks, and tactful planning is necessary to keep things moving; but it is helpful to them to do whatever they can in the interest of the school. They pay no tuition, and by doing a little now and then they gain new interest in the school.

We have had a pleasant and profitable school year. We seem to be gaining in a more regular attendance. The hand work that we have been doing interests the young people.

We had five boys in the Presbyterian boarding school in Albuquerque this year. Four worked and paid their own expenses.

Miss Smith has been alone in San Mateo while Miss Lamson has been in the East doing work for the Society. The school closed May 25.

Before Miss Lamson left for the East she told some of the people who came to call that she expected to meet the ones who supported the San Mateo school. She said, "What shall I tell them?" They replied, "Tell them that we appreciate the school and are grateful for this blessing; tell them that we still wish the school, and we want you to come back to us."

San Rafael

Number of pupils enrolled, ninety-seven ; average attendance, thirty-two. The attendance has been better than last year ; many families have been reached which heretofore were unapproachable. The kindness and coöperation on the part of the people have never before been so noticeable.

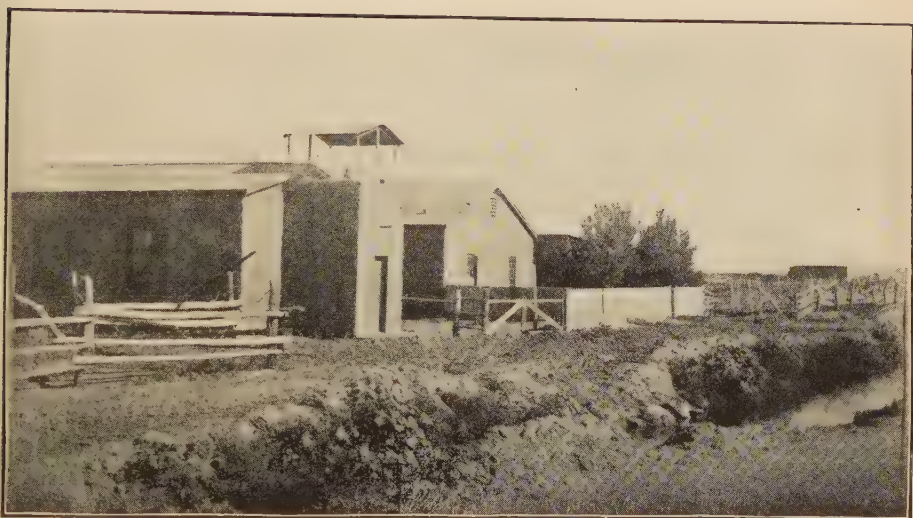

Progress in school work has been gratifying because of the regular attendance of the pupils. It may seem strange that we have so much to say about regular attendance when the average is but thirty-two. The first and last months of the school year cut down the average very perceptibly ; but an average of thirty-two for the entire year is a gain of seven over last year, and means a great deal in a Mexican school.

One feature this year has been the introduction of industrial work. The older girls crocheted bedroom slippers, and all who could sew or who could learn to sew pieced or began piecing quilts. The boys made book satchels ; some made saddle blankets, while others did patchwork.

It is rare for Mexican men to do any kind of work in or about the house ; they seem to think housework degrading, and are more than willing to leave it to the women, so we were not a little surprised to see how greatly interested the boys were in sewing. Some of the girls taught their girl friends to make the slippers, and the girls from the public school became interested in sewing ; so the influence spreads.

Our primary room was very much crowded this year. As every letter for two years has stated, we have accommodations for but twenty-three, and when we try to seat from forty to fifty pupils on twenty-three chairs we find it a difficult proposition. However, we have twelve new seats and desks for the primary room for next year, and they will lessen the labor and anxiety not a little.

The people are learning many things. The heavy rains of last year taught the need of better roofs; consequently many of them have, instead of the dirt roof, a good plank roof or a corrugated iron roof.

Many people now have wells, and fewer use the water from the irrigating ditch for drinking purposes.

We have learned to love these people dearly. They have a wealth of affection for their own, for their race, for their friends, and they are so willing to divide their last with those they love. The interest and affection they show in their simple, untaught ways for their children are at times touching beyond description. Many of them are living up to the best that is in them; perhaps they are misguided, but there are some who do the best they know. Too much cannot be done for them. Friends have said, "Well, after all, I wonder if it is worth while." Yes, it is worth while. There can be no doubt about that. The work is slow, but it is worth while, as all work for humanity is worth while.

One of two girls, bright and beautiful creatures, who will go away to school this year came to us very much troubled and indignant because some one had said:

"Mexicans do not need to be educated. It does no good to educate them."

What did we say to her? What would you say to your bright and beautiful daughter if some one should tell her it would do no good to educate her? There is much to be done here, and as the confidence and friendship of the people increase the teachers' responsibilities increase, for more is expected from them.

Seboyeta

We have been on the mission field long enough to learn that as a rule each year has its one special trial. This year the trial has been, not epidemics, not too much water, nor too little, but an extremely small school. At times it seemed very discouraging. We felt that the people did not appreciate what was being done for them. The chief reason for the school being so small was because about thirty of our boys and girls had gone away to industrial schools in Santa Fé, Albuquerque, and other places in the States, where they have much better advantages than we could possibly give them in their home town.

When we realize what it is for the boys and girls to get out and see the railroad—yes, ride on the cars! see frame and brick houses, hear a lecture, or hear some other kind of music aside from the accordion of their dances and very cheap violin music—we should not feel sorry if every child in town should go away to school for five or ten years; and though the exodus of last fall made our school diminish in size, we can but recognize it as one of the prayed for results of our work, for the teachers ever try to impress upon the minds of the pupils the advantages and benefits received in going away to school.

Aside from our school being small, this has been a prosperous year. Our people have grown dearer to us, and they seem to have more confidence in our work, more faith in our religion. Especially have they shown their good will since I am alone with them for the summer. It just seems to melt their hearts to think of my being all alone. The women come to see me often before breakfast, bringing me all manner of Mexican dishes. The men, most of them, being off on the mountains with the sheep, we have had to chop much of our own wood; but since I am alone the women have come a number of times and chopped my wood.

One dear woman, a very poor woman, came one day and said, "I have ordered you some chickens, so make a place for them." I said:

"Carlota, you know I can't buy chickens just now; you should not have ordered them." Her face broke out in a radiant smile, and she replied:

"O, you are not to pay for them; they are a present from me. I am going to pay for them by whitewashing the house of the woman from whom I am getting them."

This is but to show that our dear people do appreciate what we are doing for them, and we appreciate what they do for us. We need each other, and we feel that while our people have such childlike confidence we surely must be able to help them to a better life.

Cleaveland, together with those who have associated, and who may hereafter associate with them, be, and they hereby are, incorporated and made a body politic, by the name of the American Society for Educating Pious Youth for the Gospel Ministry; and the society aforesaid shall have perpetual succession, and may have a common seal, which it shall be lawful for them to alter at pleasure; and may purchase and receive by gift or devise, lands, tenements, and real estate of any kind, and the same hold in fee simple, or less estate, the annual income and profits whereof shall not exceed the value of ten thousand dollars. And the said society is hereby enabled to take and receive subscriptions of charitably disposed persons, and may take any personal estate in succession; and all donations to the society, either by subscription, legacy, or otherwise (excepting such as shall be differently appropriated by the donors, or by a vote of the society, agreeably to their constitution), shall make a part of, or be put into the capital stock of the society, which shall be put out on interest on good security, or otherwise improved to the best advantage, and the income or profits applied to the purpose of aiding indigent young men of talents and hopeful piety in acquiring a learned and competent education for the gospel ministry.

They shall determine what institutions shall be aided, and shall grant them money as the state of the treasury may permit. They may by vote authorize the sale or conveyance of any real estate the Society may own, to such person or persons and upon such terms as they may determine; such conveyances to be signed, executed, acknowledged, and delivered in the name of and in behalf of the Society by the President and Treasurer, as hereinbefore provided. They shall have authority to make such rules as they may deem best in regard to the calling of meetings of the Board and the number that shall constitute a quorum; to choose an Institutions Committee and a Student Aid Committee, upon whose recommendations the Board may take such action as they may judge expedient; to appoint a Finance Committee, one of whose duties shall be the making of investments. They shall also have power to appoint District or Field Secretaries, or establish any agency which they may consider necessary, and shall have power to fill, until the next annual meeting, any vacancy in their own number or in any office of the Society. The Board of Directors shall present a report of the work of the Society at each annual meeting. The meetings of the Board shall ordinarily be held in Boston. At least one meeting in each year shall be held in Chicago. All meetings shall be held in the office of the Society, either at Boston or Chicago, unless otherwise ordered.

ARTICLE XI

AMENDMENTS

This Constitution may be changed by a vote of two-thirds of the members present and entitled to vote at any meeting of the Society duly called and organized, notice of the proposed change being given in the call of the meeting at which action is to be taken.

RULES OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ADOPTED SEPTEMBER 12, 1904

RULE 1. Organization. The Board of Directors shall assemble for organization on the Monday after the annual meeting of the Society, notice of the meeting being sent by the Secretary of the Society. They shall elect by ballot a Chairman and a Clerk, a Finance Committee, an Institutions Committee, a Student Aid Committee, each of which shall have six members, besides the President and Vice-President, who shall be ex officio members of all committees.

RULE 2. Meetings. The Directors shall hold regular meetings on the second Monday of each month, excepting that the August meeting may be omitted by vote of the Directors. Special meetings shall be called at the written request of three Directors, by giving three days' notice, by letter, to each member of the Board, stating the time, place, and object of the meeting. Seven Directors shall constitute a quorum.

RULE 3. Committees. Within two weeks after the election of the Finance, Institutions, and Student Aid Committees a meeting of each of them shall be held in Boston, at which a Chairman and a Clerk shall be elected by ballot. Such meeting shall be called by the Clerk of the Board of Directors, who shall notify each member seven days, at least, before the meeting. Each of said committees shall hold a regular monthly meeting, except in August, and the Clerk's records and all reports or abstracts of them, or copy of them, shall be kept in the rooms of the Society, in the care of the Secretary, and be open to the examination of the Directors. Other meetings of any of the said committees shall be held whenever the Chairman or any two members shall so request the Clerk in writing, provided notice of the time and place of the meeting is mailed or delivered to each member one day, at least, before the meeting. At any of the meetings aforesaid three members shall constitute a quorum.

RULE 4. Finance Committee. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to cause to be kept a book, wherein shall be set forth in detail: (1) all stocks and bonds owned by the Society, at par, with a statement of the original cost of the same to the Society; (2) all real estate (both land and buildings) and other property of the Society, with the full cost of the same; and (3) all property held on special deposit or in trust. This book shall be at all times open to the inspection of any member of the Board of Directors, and the record shall be so amended from time to time, under the direction of the Finance Committee, as to show at all times a correct statement of the property of the Society and of any special trusts in its hands. All title deeds to real estate, mortgages, insurance policies, and certificates of stocks and bonds owned by the Society shall be in the care and custody of the Treasurer, under the direction of this committee, who shall provide a proper place for their safe keeping. They shall also, when occasion requires, direct the sale and transfer of stocks, bonds or mortgages, invest any surplus, or other specific funds of the Society, and in general, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, shall have the charge of the Society's financial concerns not otherwise provided for. But no investment shall be made without the approval by affirmative vote, or in writing, if otherwise, of at least four members of the committee. The chairman of the committee shall approve all bills before payment thereof by the Treasurer.

RULE 5. Institutions Committee. The Institutions Committee shall keep a book of all institutions aided by the Society and the amount granted to each, and make recommendations to the Directors of the institutions which should receive aid. The committee may also be divided into subcommittees, who may investigate and advise upon particular institutions intrusted to them.

RULE 6. The Student Aid Committee. The Student Aid Committee shall keep a book, containing the names of all students aided by the Society and the amount of the several grants; also recommend to the Directors those whom they approve for aid. The committee may likewise be divided into subcommittees for purposes of investigation and advice.

RULE 7. Western Members. The Western members will be expected to give counsel upon the appropriation of money for such academies and schools, and they shall once, at least, each year transmit to the Board at Boston a summary statement of the condition and requirements of the Society's work, as viewed by them, and this statement shall be a special topic of consideration at the first meeting of the Board after its reception.

No action shall be taken at a meeting held in either section of the country in respect to which the judgment of the members resident in the other section is specially needed, unless seasonable notice shall have been given that such action is contemplated.

A full and attested copy of the record of each meeting of the Board of Directors held in Boston shall be immediately forwarded to Chicago, and shall be either filed or transcribed in such a manner as to form a permanent record at Chicago; and an attested record of the doings of each meeting of the Board held at Chicago shall be entered upon the permanent record of the Board in Boston. A summary statement of the business done at each meeting of the members of the Western section of the Board shall also be promptly transmitted to Boston.

RULE 8. Absences. Any Eastern Director who shall be absent from one-third of the stated meetings of the Board held during any one year at Boston, or any Western Director who shall be absent from one-third of the stated meetings held during any one year at Chicago, including the meetings of the Board and of the Western section of the Board, unless excused for such absence for adequate reason by the Board or its Western section, as the case may be, shall be deemed to have vacated his office as Director, and the vacancy thus created shall be filled by the election of some other person at the next annual meeting of the Society.

RULE 9. Grants to Students. Applications for scholarships granted by this Society to students for the ministry are approved under the following rules and conditions.

(a) The Society wishes to aid young men of ability and promise who are studying in preparation for the ministry, and who are in need of assistance. The Directors rely largely upon the men themselves, who are thus aided, for assurance that their need of help is real, that they are prudent, economical in the use of money, and that they are shaping their habits of life in a manner becoming to those who are to be teachers and leaders in the Christian church, and specifically abstaining from the use of intoxicants and tobacco.

(b) To receive a grant a student in college must have reached the grade of sophomore, and must have maintained a standard in scholarship of seventy-five per cent, or an equivalent degree under varying marking systems. A beneficiary in a theological seminary must be a graduate of some college of good standing, or a man of such qualifications and promise as may largely compensate for the lack of a college course. The Directors may make grants in special cases to students outside these regular classifications.

(c) It is optional with the student whether the grant be a loan or a gift. If taken as a loan the student shall forward his note for the amount. Such notes, if paid within three years after entering the ministry, shall bear no interest, but from that time they shall bear interest at three per cent.

(d) Scholarships are assigned for one year only. Renewal must be secured by a new application each year, but may not be obtained beyond six consecutive years. The amount of the regular scholarship at present is fifty (50) dollars per annum, payable in two equal installments, December 1 and April 1. Applications should be forwarded to the Secretary before November 1 or March 1.

(e) The Board of Directors shall appoint examining committees, consisting of three persons each at different institutions, throughout the country to make careful inquiry concerning the applicant's religious character, credentials, his motives for seeking the ministry, his abilities, attainments, and promise, also his need of pecuniary aid and his willingness to conform to the rules of the Society. The Directors must depend almost entirely upon the personal estimates which are furnished by the committees appointed for that purpose in the colleges and seminaries with which these students are connected, therefore they expect that these estimates are prepared with carefulness from individual knowledge, and express distinctly the personal judgment of those from whom they come. If the committee decide to recommend an applicant they shall direct him to state in the form of application his name, age, residence, place of education, church membership, need of assistance, and any other facts which may be deemed important.

If there is no regular examining committee in the institution which a student desiring assistance is attending, the Secretary of the Society may be notified of his wish for assistance and a special committee be appointed to examine him.

(f) Before receiving a grant the applicant must give expression to his purpose of devoting his life to the Christian ministry and of taking a full course of theological education, promising that if he shall change his purpose of entering the ministry, he will, within three years after the date of the latest payment, and unless especially released by the Directors for good reasons shown, repay to the Society the whole amount of money received, with three per cent interest on the same from the time of receiving it.

(g) The income which shall provide for the payment of scholarships shall be derived from the interest upon invested funds given for this purpose, and from the gifts of the churches and of special friends for the same object. A gift of one thousand dollars ($1,000), constituting a permanent fund, of which the interest alone shall be used, shall bear the name of the donor, or such name as he may assign. The income of such a fund shall be at once and perpetually applied to the support of a student in prosecuting his studies for the ministry. Such a donor may name a student as the recipient of such a scholarship, provided his application is duly made and approved according to the regulations of the Society. The Society will act as the almoner for any benevolent individuals who desire to assist worthy young men to prepare for the ministry or to procure a Christian education, and will take charge of any funds intrusted to it for this purpose, applying them for the objects and persons designated.

RULE 10. Grants to Institutions. The rules and conditions under which the Society will aid an institution are:

1. It must present to the Directors a certified copy of its act of incorporation.
2. A certified copy of its by-laws.
3. The names of its trustees and number of its students of its several classes.
4. An abstract of title of the property to be covered by mortgage.

5. It must have secured in fee simple and unencumbered, sufficient ground for buildings and campus and assets in buildings, or in money, or in both, to the amount of $5,000.

6. No appropriation voted by the Board of Directors is payable to any institution which shall not prior to such payment have furnished to the Secretary evidence that the property is adequately insured.

7. The institution must be indorsed by the State Association or Conference of the Congregational churches, and by the local Association or Conference within the bounds of whose territory it is located, and it must annually report to the State Association or Conference and have the continued approval of the same so long as it receives aid from the Society.

8. No college will be aided until it has a freshman class of at least four students, and all other institutions must have such a number of students and such status as shall afford evidence of permanency. Every academy must be prepared to give thorough preparation for college.

9. It shall be the duty of the president or principal of each institution that receives aid from the Society to report to the Directors at least annually the financial condition of the institution, the number of its students, and all such facts in regard to its prosperity as it may be desirable for the Directors to know.

10. As the preparation, execution, and approval of the papers require time, the institution should notify the Board of Directors of this Society when the institution will be ready for the payment, and should forward papers named above three months before payment is expected to be made.

11. The time for the Board of Directors voting upon applications for current expenses is their regular meeting on the second Monday in June.

12. Application for aid must be made by a formal vote of corporate board of trustees of the institution, who must also give to this Society a first mortgage, with the usual covenants and power to foreclose (unless such action be illegal by the laws of the state), which must also be recorded, on its building and real estate to cover the sum which has been given or may be given to this institution, in case of a failure to carry out the conditions upon which such appropriations are made, namely :

(a) The institution must be and continue under the control of a self-perpetuating board of trustees, a majority of whom shall always be members in good and regular standing in a Congregational church.

(b) Every school and college aided by this Society must maintain the characteristics of a vitally Christian institution. It is expected that special attention will be given to the study of the Bible and to development of Christian character in the pupils, and that every president and principal shall be members of an evangelical church.

(c) All money received from the Society (except such as may have been designated by the donor or by unanimous vote of the Directors for other use) must be applied by the institution to the payment of salaries, to purchase of books, apparatus, or permanent endowment of chairs of instruction according to the instructions of the Directors.

(d) On failure to carry out any of the above named conditions, or in case the trustees in their management of an institution become subject to political or ecclesiastical control other than Congregational, or shall in any way be diverted from the policy of the said Congregational Education Society, as at present defined in its charter and by-laws, the Society may demand repayment of all sums advanced, and enter and foreclose their mortgage on the property.

13. In order to secure the early occupation of promising fields, and also to exert a more direct influence through the agency of Christian education in sections not yet provided with good common schools, this Society may establish and temporarily maintain academies, training and other schools in localities where it would not be possible or advisable to create local corporations. These it may own, manage, and control, with the ultimate purpose of placing them under the care of self-perpetuating boards of trustees or of disposing of them as the best interests of Christian education may seem to demand.

14. All institutions aided by the Society, either through their federation with the Society by states or by direct grants from the general fund, shall be treated as institutions under the care of the Society. The Society may also act as almoner for individual donors to institutions in the above classes and for other specified Congregational institutions.

RULE II. Amendments. These rules may be changed by a two-thirds vote of those present and voting at any regular meeting of the Directors, notice of the proposed amendment having been given in writing at a previous meeting and in the call sent out for such meeting.
